American & Foreign Patents
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837.
No. 78 State Street, (opposite Kilby street,) Boston
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Reissues, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Reasonable models in America and Foreign warrants to determine the validity and utility of inventions, and legal opinions rendered in regard to infringements, made on short notice. Private information, and advice FREE, given as to what will be decided on by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.
I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and trustworthy practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can confidently employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted. He has given to my services such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability as to induce me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, since they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their case, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN RAGHART.

JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, JULY 29, 1869.

State Election, Monday, Sept. 13.

FOR GOVERNOR,

Penobscot County Republican Convention.

The Republican Voters of the County of Penobscot, are hereby notified to meet in Delegate Convention at the City Hall, in Bangor, on THURSDAY the 19th day of August next, at ten o'clock A. M., to nominate three candidates for Senators, one Commissioner and a Treasurer, and to transact any other business deemed expedient.

Each City, Town and Plantation is entitled to one delegate, one additional delegate for every fifty votes cast for Gov. Chamberlain in 1868, and for a fraction of 25 votes, another delegate.

R. S. PRESCOTT,
S. S. KINGMAN,
JOHN MORISON,
H. E. STEWART,
J. W. POLLARD,
Republican County Committee.

Bangor, July 27th, 1869.

Democracy cannot seem to recover from the disappointment and chagrin at the result in Virginia. Not that the election did not take the turn they hoped, save that they wanted the constitution defeated and reconstruction entirely blocked—but that they were slightly deceived as to the character of their own movement. In their anxiety to win and in their hopelessness of pure Democracy, they accepted a conservative "carpet bagger." The Republicans of Virginia, having little objection to him, gave him a large proportion of their votes. The first word from Virginia fills our Democratic friends with enthusiasm, and they are loaded for a powerful salute. Some of them go off prematurely, and burnish very much. The next news is not so good, being a congratulation to President Grant over the "triumph of his policy," and therefore comes another dose of a similar medicine intensified. Gov. Walker in so many words declares that the result is in no sense a Democratic victory, but Republican, and the Walker papers almost without exception follow up with similar statements.—Here at last after years of labor with very few rewards win a chance to achieve victory, and they seized it; but its outward appearance was deceptive—it was empty.—They had scarcely touched the prize when it collapsed. Our Democratic friends are therefore passively quiet under the punishment of having jumped into their own trap. They are unconsolable. But we can see how they may not yet live years to come upon the same nutriment that has fed them in the past. Adversity is a great teacher, and Democracy is being well schooled.

There they go again! The negroes of South Carolina have shown a remarkable aptitude for imitating Democratic examples. They have an idea that no man of their own race have a right to differ with them in politics. They very correctly believe that the only safe policy for them is the Republican policy, but they very erroneously believe that the Democratic style of propagating their views is judicious, and that differences are intolerable. Thereupon they seize the opportunity of the visit of a Democratic negro company to Charleston to demonstrate the truth of their doctrine by the use of brickbats and other dangerous missiles.—Truly, there is strength to Democratic "principles" when, even after the party has commenced to decay, its works are left recorded behind it, like tracks of the prowling beast of prey. These transactions strongly remind us of the palmy days of Democracy, when Yankee schoolmasters were tarred and feathered for holiday recreations and negroes had no rights which a black-white man was bound to respect. And all this too after years of trial to make good Republican, law-abiding citizens of the black man! We have reason for congratulation, however, that most of them refuse to follow such examples, and that this Charleston affair is but a rare exception to the usual good sense of the new citizens. But for this consolation, what had we gained by exchanging Democratic for negro barbarism!

Some of our exchanges think General Smith is even one year behind his party. This is the only libellous charge we have seen thus far in the campaign. We believe General Smith should say "those fellows" for the intent to injure his business reputation. It is a clear case. It is equivalent to saying to Mr. Hibbard, you are no shipbuilder, because your ideas are those that Noah originated. Should a man desire to build a fast yacht, would he think you apply to Mr. Hickborn to do the work after this charge? Any man who is a year to the rearward of Democracy is clearly unreliable in a business point of view.

The Cincinnati Chronicle concludes an article discussing the political situation in the State of Ohio as follows: "The leading Democratic paper of this State comes out squarely for repudiation. Other papers of the same politics claim that honesty requires that if we pay our debt we should also pay that of the Confederacy, amounting to the modest sum of five billions; and a member of the Legislature of Kentucky, a Bright and shining light in the household of Democracy, offered a resolution looking to the payment for all the slaves emancipated by the Government, a small addition of four thousand millions more.—Upon all the above we propose to meet the Democracy, confident in the justice of our cause. We ask an earnest and united effort of all good citizens to defeat the machinations of the enemy. Let not outside issues distract us, and victory will be ours."

Political and Personal.

The Springfield Republican is disgusted with Parton's exposition of the Washington lobby, because he doesn't accuse Butler of everything bad.

Oliver Logan writes: "I was there, and saw him, and I will just say that if Mr. Bibb was not intoxicated that night, (at Long Branch,) he is the most curious looking sober man I ever beheld."

Senator Anthony, in a private letter to a friend, denies the story that he is preparing to attack his colleague, Senator Sprague, in the Senate next winter. Mr. Anthony will not take the offensive. If he is attacked he will defend himself as he did last session.

The county of Stark requires that Ohio Democratic papers should omit all reference to the "bloated bondholders," for fear of wounding the feelings of the Democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania who is "bloated" with several millions of dollars of that sort of property.

Senator Trumbull has recently had an interview with that magnificent old heathen, Brigham Young. Brigham said that he and his disciples would not obey the law of the United States relating to polygamy. Judge Trumbull replied that all the laws of the General Government including that against polygamy, must be obeyed.

Railroads.

To the Editor of the Whig:

The better way in discussing great questions of vital importance to the community, is to state frankly the points in issue. Side shows should not be gotten up to draw off attractions from the principal exhibition. The circus performance is always under the big tent; if a side show assumed nearly the proportions of the principal exhibition, it would no longer be tolerated.

The article in your issue of the 26th on the "Winterport or Bucksport" is a case in point.

The elephant and trained horses are under the small tent. The organ-grinder with his new instrument, bass drum and bones, are under the big tent, and for a small admission fee you will soon discover you are in a side show only, under the big tent.

If the caption of that article had been "Maine Central Railroad vs. Winterport Railroad" it would have deceived no one, and the well known author would have been appreciated, and the suspicion would not have been created that he might have been a recipient of a few of the many free passes recently given by the first named road with so generous a hand, to many citizens of Bangor and vicinity, no one, would give more to the watchful cur he fears.

The friends of the Winterport Railroad are not in ignorance of the real opposition to their road. It was apparent in the Legislature which granted our charter; it is apparent now in efforts made with the City Government of Bangor to prevent a subdivision of the act passed last winter by the Legislature, authorizing the city of Bangor to loan its credit to the amount of $15,000 per mile to the Winterport road, and therefore as security the first mortgage on the road; and further providing that the city shall be entitled to three out of seven on the Board of Directors; and further, that the bonds of the city shall be issued till five miles of our road shall be completed, southward from Bangor,—to the voters of the city for their acceptance; and no one who knows the determination of the most intelligent voters of Bangor to have access to tide water at all seasons of the year, and compelling through line of road under the charter of the Bay & River road, or through Brooks to Waterville or Augusta, can doubt the result.

The bugbear that the advocates "Brewer in said article holds up to the voters of Bangor under his 4th specification, will fright no one when the following fact is known. The Directors of the Winterport Railroad authorize me to say that "arrangements are perfected by which, with the city loan of $15,000 per mile, our road will be completed in one year; and further, that the bonds of the city will not be called for till the road is completed." Thus the speculation of "Brewer" about future city loans in aid of our road are as chimerical as the immense amounts of imports he sees coming from Calais by rail to Bangor.

"Brewer" further labors to show that the loan of the city's credit to the Winterport Railroad will be but an additional burden to the city. We answer by stating that we have already declined a guarantee of six per cent. on the cost of our road, from opponents of both parties, for what we believe to be better terms.

And again: Our road will be but a part of the Bay & River road, the route of which lies through a country comprising one sixth part of the whole valuation of the State; and the Rockland and Portland & Kennebec roads stand ready to guarantee six per cent. on the whole cost. Thus no contingency can arise whereby the city of Bangor will be called upon to pay a farthing of the loan.

Neither "Brewer" nor any other writer can arouse in us opposition to a railroad to Bucksport. Whenever and wherever the traffic and travel demand a road, then and there a road will be built. But one thing we can with certainty say, that though the Maine Central road, may use the Bucksport road as a club with which to kill our road now, when as friends apply for a location they may expect from it the same decided opposition which is now manifested towards us. Monopolies are not for the interests of any community, and the "cloven hoof" is only necessary to be seen to be resisted. Let our enemies show their true colors, and our friends will not be misled. "Let us have peace."

T. W. VOSE,
One of the Directors of the Winterport Railroad.

We notice by the Salem Mercury that the Selectmen of Beverly have contracted with Mr. George H. Norman of Newport, R. I., for constructing works to supply the town with water from the Wenham lake.

"Let us have peace."
A great man said,
And sheathed the sword
That millions led.

A thirsty man
Quickly dries his pen,
And then "dips ink,"
"We must have men,
If men we've not,
I'll be a girl,
Our ship will rot
And go to pot."
The true—I see—
Will all my Pa,
That I may be a soldier,
And while I laugh
Lest I may die."
I know I'm right,
Umph by and by,
There's malice not
A bit in me,
So I bespeak
All charity.
The honor shown
With ME agrees;
I do accept!

WHAT GOVERNOR CHAMBERLAIN SAID.—There has been a good deal of harping upon what Governor Chamberlain said in his Message about prohibition, and no small amount of misrepresentation. We copy below what he did say, and leave it for each to judge for himself whether the Governor has been fairly represented.

"Legislation upon what a man shall eat and drink, is certainly a pretty strong assertion of State rights over those of the individual. But every good citizen will admit that drunkenness is an evil, a dishonor to manhood, a disfigurer of society, and a detriment to the State. It stands out from other vices in being the exciting cause of much litigation and criminal proceeding before the courts, and in driving men to crimes which they would not otherwise commit.—Hence it is the duty of the State to restrain men from it, and protect innocent from its depredations; and the duty of the individual to yield some of his personal rights, for the general good. Our State has accordingly enacted the present prohibitory law as in its judgment are adequate means to this end and wherever it has been executed it appears to have been effective.

Since the repeal of the "Constabulary act" there does not appear to have been much effort, to make use of the ordinary means of enforcing the prohibitory and kindred laws. In some localities the friends and guardians of good order have done their duty, and the traffic in intoxicating liquors has been effectually suppressed.

But there seems to have been a reaction from the severe measures of the previous year, and who's willingness on the part of some to let the reaction do its worst in order to give urgency to the movement for more stringent legislation. Precisely what measures to adopt to secure the most general execution of this law is a question on which the wisest and best will differ. It may be proposed to restore the late Constabulary system, but experience found in that much that was objectionable. It was essentially repugnant to the deep settled notions of individual rights. It was an independent and a dangerous power in the civil system. It afforded peculiar facilities to abuse and indiscretions in its exercise. We should be able to provide some means which would more command the consent and co-operation of the people. I think it highly desirable, if possible, to accomplish this end through our established civil officers. BUT AT ALL EVENTS, LET US EXECUTE OUR LAWS OR REPEAL THEM."

The Cincinnati Gazette in commenting upon the nomination by the copperheads of Ohio of a fighting soldier for Governor of that State says:

"It remains to be seen what Governor Rosecrans will now do. Will he desert his Democratic, or will he force the Democratic party to eat its own words and follow those principles which he so gallantly fought, in a letter from the field, in reply to a resolution of the General Assembly of Ohio, Gen. Rosecrans, among other things, wrote:—'Wherever they (the rebels) have the power they drive before them into their ranks the Southern people, and they would also drive us. Trust them not. Were they able they would invade and destroy us without mercy.' Absolutely assured of these things, I am amazed that any one could think a peace on any terms. He who entertains the sentiment is fit only to be a slave; he who utters it at this time is, moreover, a traitor to his country, who deserves the scorn and contempt of all honorable men. True words, or a sentiment more noble were never written. The utterance pointed the platform of the Democratic party in words of fire. It was a compilation, so expressive, so striking that no one could fail to understand it. The leaders of that Democratic party did understand it. The Enquirer understood it. It made haste to denounce the letter, and it did its work in bitter terms. Gen. Rosecrans will stand by that letter we venture to say, to the end of his days. He will not take one word back. The Democratic leaders who were then traitors to their country, and deserving of the scorn and contempt of all honorable men, are the same who have nominated Rosecrans and made a platform of principles for him to stand upon. Circumstances have changed. The rebellion was suppressed in spite of these people in front and the traitors in the rear; but the Democratic leaders have not changed."

Of the prospects of the Northern Pacific Railroad and of its advantages the Commercial Advertiser says:

Ground will soon be broken for this road, which is to run from St. Paul [illegible] Puget Sound. The Express road, though longer North than the Union Pacific, is to be constructed on a lower level, and will, therefore, avoid the troubles from snow. The Chicago Advance says that while the whole length of the Northern Pacific line will be more than 200 miles, will have an elevation not exceeding 300 feet in any part, while 1200 miles of the great Pacific Road are more than 400 feet above the same level, and over 500 miles of the Union Pacific are an advance of 6000 feet. While the highest point on the present line is 8200 feet above the tide water, that of the Northern Pacific will be less than 2500 feet above the water. The following facts are interesting: From the Pacific at San Francisco to the lake at Chicago is 3225 miles. From the Pacific at Seattle to the lake at Duluth, it is only 1771 miles. From Seattle to Chicago by way of [illegible] is 2140 miles. From New York to San Francisco via Chicago and Omaha, is 3323 miles. From New York to Shanghai via Chicago and San Francisco is 10,423 miles. From New York to Shanghai via the Northern Pacific, will be 6,766 miles.

TO THE Whig & Courier.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 28.

Reports have been received at the General Land Office showing the completion of the survey of twenty additional townships lying between Salmon and Salmon Forks of the Kansas river, embracing an aggregate area of 460,000 acres.

The Internal Revenue receipts today were $947,000.

The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that American steam boats which merely touch at ports on the lakes and on the coast, shall not be subject to entrance and clearance fees.

Cuban Affairs.

WASHINGTON, July 28.

Letters from Cuba received here contain intelligence to the 20th inst. Gen. Quesada had destroyed two important bridges on the Railroad from Nuevitas to Puerto Principe, cutting off all communication between these cities. All the intervening country is held by the Cuban forces. The Spanish troops are now confined in those cities and are suffering severely from disease and want of supplies. Several sorties have been made from Nuevitas and in each instance the troops were driven back with a severe loss.

General Quesada has a large number of Spanish prisoners, which he is holding as hostages for the proper treatment of Cubans who may fall into the hands of the Spanish commanders. Among them are a number of prominent Government officials.

The letter states that at Remedios, the Spaniards were driven off with a loss of 150 in killed and wounded and prisoners. At Sagua la Grande the fight lasted several hours, the Spanish forces numbering over 1500, while that of the Cubans was less than 1000 effective men. The Spaniards were finally compelled to retreat with a loss of over 300, while that of the Cubans was less than 120. The result of these battles has inspired the Cubans with renewed courage and they have no doubt of their ability to maintain themselves against those now in the field.

A large supply of arms and ammunition, including a battery of artillery, with 300 men from the United States, successfully landed at Nuevitas and are now a part of General Quesada's forces. Sickness is reported to be abating and General Quesada and Jordan expect soon to take the field offensively with a force more than equal to that of their opponents.

He proceeded to give unity to the ... conclusion he announced as his thesis—The ... pulpit is the climax of ... thought.

The speaker referred to many theories of eloquence, some of which he condemned.

1. That it was in the manner, the personal management of what was said.

2. That it was in the language—a higher form of eloquence than the former—but much may be said and little done—not even Shakespeare could attain true eloquence by the choice of beautiful and melodious words.

3. That it was in the thought. He concluded this proposition by a careful and scholarly review of the theories of the leading writers on the subject, from Plato to ...

As illustrating his thesis, he quoted Luther's celebrated speech at the Diet of Worms, which notwithstanding its simplicity of language has never been excelled in eloquence. All that sentence ... "If righteousness come by the law, then Christ died in vain." A short passage, but eloquent in thought, presenting a cardinal truth.

To show that the eloquence of thought thus defined, is the true eloquence, he further said.

1. By the practice of it, it secures to us the very best ... that the preacher has—the thought being the best of the man. Some speak eloquently, but have no thought. Foster had good ideas, but no manner. Contact with truth makes a man great—it is the panacea for all the cases and troubles of mental life. There is dull preaching because no thought.

2. It provides the only open way for originality. All other methods have been exhausted; but thought can never be.

3. The eloquence of thought-belts the truths of the christian religion. The preaching of the gospel is the spiritual act of a spiritual being, and therefore every thing that is sensuous, is out of place. "If any man thirst let him come unto ME and drink."

4. The originality of the times called for the eloquence of thought. There were deficiencies; a great want of faith and reverence—let them be met by clear and stately thought—increase the vision of Christ. There were excrescences—affectations which need to be rebuked. There were excellencies—which need to be encouraged.

The speaker in closing referred to two ... directions that might be urged against his definition of ... 1. That it ... ely. It rather ... more than ... his truth. Good ... to language, but ... thought.

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION. The time for the annual meeting of this Association at Portland has been changed from Tuesday, Aug. 31, to Wednesday, August 4th. The members and invited guests will please govern themselves accordingly.

HAY HARBOR. A correspondent of the Boston Journal has been writing up Mt. Desert. He says the hotels at that place are alike in number, some better and some worse. The principal difficulty which city visitors experience with all of them is the long distance from a market, and consequent infrequent supply of fresh meats. But this is of minor consequence, for if people go into the country they must expect and ought to be thankful for a good dose of wholesome country fare. Plenty of fresh milk, fresh berries, fresh fish, fresh vegetables, in fact fresh everything except unlimited fresh meats, form the bill of fare at a Bar Harbor hotel, and a very good bill of fare it makes. But even this difficulty is in a fair way to be obviated. An enterprising gentleman (of course a Yankee, I wish I might say from Massachusetts, but alas, he hails from Bangor) proposes to establish a market somewhere on the island, and then driving his stock down on the hoof to slaughter it as often as may be necessary to supply the demand.

POST OFFICE CHANGES. Postmasters appointed—John B. Doyle, Conway, vice Elanus Doyle, resigned; H. G. Deslle, East Eden, Vt., H. Hamon, resigned.

Offices re-established—Cape Elizabeth, Freeman Evans, Postmaster; Northfield, James Barnard, Postmaster.

The citizens of Hallowell are contemplating the purchase of the Hallowell and Chelsea bridge to make it free.

The city of Dover, N. H., has purchased a machine for crushing stone to macadamize the streets. That is just what is needed in the cities of this State. It would pay for itself in a very short time, both in the saving of money, and the beauty and durability of streets. The Calais Advertiser strongly recommends it for that city.

The Kennebec Journal says: "Rev. S. C. Beach, pastor of the Unitarian Society in this city, has handed in his resignation. He has been suffering from ill health for several months past, and has been advised by physicians to discontinue his pulpit labors for the present, and devote some months to mental and physical relaxation."

—Rev. J. M. Paine was ordained as pastor of the Universalist Church in Gardiner on the 15th inst. Leonard Kip Storrs was ordained a Deacon, at Christ Church, in Gardiner, the 14th inst. The sermon and address to the candidate were by Rev. Mr. Ballard. Mr. Storrs is a nephew of Bishop Kip of California, and also of the late Bishop Burgess. The Gardiner papers say the exercises throughout, on both occasions were very interesting, and were listened to with much interest by large audiences.

—A match game of base ball for the junior championship of Maine and gold mounted bat, was played on the grounds of the Dirigo club, in Augusta, Monday afternoon of this week, between the Dirigo club and the Union Club of Lewiston. The Union club gave up the contest at the close of their last inning, the score standing Union club, 17; Dirigo club, 11.

—A Lewiston dispatch informs us that two horses in Auburn, belonging to Capt. John Parsley, were struck by lightning on Tuesday afternoon and burned with their contents.—fifteen tons of hay and farming tools.

ACADIA CHAPTER, R. A. M., will be continued at Ellsworth, on Tuesday afternoon next, Aug. 3d, by Joseph P. Gill of Lewiston, Grand High Priest, assisted by Samuel Bradford, Grand King, and other officers of the Grand Chapter.

—The York County Independent says a project is on foot to introduce pure water into Saco for general use.

—The grand State Billiard Tournament will commence in Portland next week.

—Two attempts to burn buildings occurred in Portland Monday night. No clue to the incendiaries.

—The Press gives the following Custom House changes in Portland: Orville Libby, an Inspector in the Portland Custom House, has been appointed boarding officer, vice C. H. Smith, removed. Col. Isaac W Starbird has received the appointment of clerk, vice F. B. Eaton removed; Geo. F. Avot, clerk, vice Jos. Dunnell removed; and —— Flint, clerk, vice Wm. O. Fox resigned.

—The Press says that on Friday last a woman about 32 years of age, named Mary L. Bassett, of very pale complexion, with sandy hair, who has been boarding with Mrs. Burnham at her boarding house on Cross St., Portland, for some time past, left the house at about 2 P. M. and has not since been seen. It is thought that she is deranged.

—The Aroostook Sunrise says: "Great crops of hay this year. Wheat, [illegible] kinds of grain very promising; never better. Corn and beans do not promise so well. Season rather cool. First rate for grass and grain! Very large crops of grain growing. One farmer tells us he sowed 12½ bushels of grain, another that he has 19 acres, another's, and numerous of the leaves of autumn are the farmers, who have 30 or less."

—The Mail says that on the 10th inst., James Witham, Esq., of Waterville, while at work on a house in that place received a piece of iron, thrown by a stroke of a hammer, into his eye, just below the right. After four days of great suffering, it was removed by Dr. Fogg of Farmington.

—The information that Dr. I. T. Dana has found it necessary to resign the chair of Theory and Practice of Medicine in Bowdoin College, will be said news to both the students in the Medical School and all part of the College, says the Press, but that step had to be taken by him, owing to the demand of his large practice in Portland which prevented his being at once to attend to College duties in the spring.

—The Sunrise says that Mr. Sidney Cook at his saw mill in Presque Isle village is sawing logs 40 spruce timber for the bridge at Caribou. The lumber is sent down the river in rafts.

—A Lewiston Journal correspondent writes that the skeleton of an Indian was recently exhumed from Red Bridge in New Hampshire. It looked as if he had crawled into a hollow log and there died, as the decayed wood was all around the skeleton. The crowns of the teeth were worn down, indicating his nation) character. The skull exhibited a very low order of the race. He evidently had been buried there for a long time, as there was an accumulation of sediment two feet in thickness above him from the river deposit, which have recently washed away. We don't speculate from this the very great antiquity of the man. The skull is in the possession of J. G. Rich, Esq., of Union, Me.

—Bath expended for schools, last year, $20,730 74.

WASHINGTON NEWS. The dispatch to the Journal have the following:—

Of the two hundred and twenty-nine postmasters noted today, twenty three were in Massachusetts, twelve to Connecticut, four each to Maine, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, and one to Vermont.

A detachment will send home a year or two ago to the officers of the Secretary of the Treasury was about to change his policy in relation to purchases of bonds and sales of gold, and that such pursuance would be suspended for a period after Wednesday of this week. The report was stated in such a way as was calculated to create an impression that it was an authorized announcement, and the result was a flood of dispatches from bankers and other interested in financial operations in New York, who wanted information upon the subject. The statement was altogether unauthorized. Mr. Boutwell does not contemplate a change, but will continue to sell gold and purchase bonds as heretofore, in such amounts and at such times as will best suit the business of the Government; and he believes the time already designated are the most favorable and proper.

The Internal Revenue Bureau is in receipt of information that, on Saturday last Gen. Terry, Commanding the Third Military District, ordered a company of infantry to the Third Collection District of Georgia to assist the Revenue officers in making the assessments. Mr. Kryszanowzk, the Supervisor of the District, in his communication to Commissioner Delano respecting the defiant attitude of the people in Wilkes and adjoining counties, urges that the resignation of Assistant Assessor Heywood should not be accepted. Wilkes county is sparsely settled and the collections there do not amount to much, but the Supervisor wants to enforce the respect of the inhabitants for the United States authorities, and he believes the assistance of the military and the arrest of the leaders of the revolt will crush out the latest spirit of the rebellion. The military probably reached Wilkes county yesterday, but it will be a day or two before the department here hears from them.

It is a remarkable fact, and one which shows how dependent a large portion of the South have hitherto been upon the mechanical resources of the North, that there is not a paper mill in either Louisiana, Texas or Mississippi. Newspapers, however, are quite numerous, and in New Orleans alone over six thousand pounds of paper are used daily for printing purposes. Perhaps it may be regarded as an indication of the new spirit of enterprise which has obtained a hold in that section since the war, that at last an effort is to be made to start a paper manufacturing company. For itself in a very short time, both in the saving of money, and the beauty and durability of streets. The Calais Advertiser strongly recommends it for that city.

—The Kennebec Journal says: "Rev. S. C. Beach, pastor of the Unitarian Society in this city, has handed in his resignation. He has been suffering from ill health for several months past, and has been advised by physicians to discontinue his pulpit labors for the present, and devote some months to mental and physical relaxation."

READ THIS!

AT a field trial at Lewiston, July, 1869, a Committee of five Farmers, unanimously voted their premium in favor of the CLIPPER, One and Two Horse size; and on the One-Horse size, a horse weighing only 790 pounds was used—taken from a buggy, and used in the breast-plate harness, and one that had never before pulled a Mower. This horse only required eight minutes more to mow a half acre than two-horse teams cutting 4½ feet did for their half acre: and it was a common remark among the spectators that he appeared as much at ease as any other team. A CLIPPER was used that was owned by a farmer in the vicinity.

The CLIPPER took the FIRST PRIZE at the Ohio State Fair, 1868, and also many others too numerous to mention.
